course and actual participation in the course. Momentarily, with major changes underway in the DDS which concern several of the key senior secretaries, we must postpone development of that portion of the course involving these personnel. However, the need for the course and the objectives seem to be generally endorsed. Planning for other portions of the course will continue. We still hope to conduct experimental runnings in the Spring of 1971.

C. MANAGEMENT TRAINING

1. GENERAL

On December 15 at the request of [REDACTED] of the DDS staff, the Management Training Faculty supplied a speaker, [REDACTED] who addressed the Agency Naval Reserve Meeting on the subject, "Training and Managerial Development." 25X1A9a 25X1A9a

2. MEDC

- a. At the closing session of MEDC #26 on Friday, 11 December, the Director spent 45 minutes giving his candid views in response to several penetrating questions from the class. He discussed in some detail the questions of "compartmentation", non-official cover, and rotation between and within Directorates and Components and expressed the desire of top management to resolve continuing problems of these kinds.
- b. The final week of the 26th Midcareer Course was spent on the highly successful field trip to the Manned Spacecraft Center, Houston, Texas; the 90th Strategic Missile Wing, Cheyenne, Wyoming; and NASA, Cape Kennedy, Florida. The visit to Houston was of more than usual interest because the Midcareerists were briefed for the first time by one of the astronauts, Dr. Story Musgrave, and had a particularly interesting discussion period with him afterwards.
